
CINCINNATI JOURNAL.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1837.

THE ALTON OBSERVER.

An arrangement has been made for supplying the subscribers of this paper. It will be issued from our office, under the name of the "Alton Observer," but will contain substantially the same matter with the Journal. Our editorial course will remain unchanged, and we hope by increased exertions to make the paper worthy of this greatly extended circulation.

The series of editorial articles on the subject of slavery, will be continued next week.
